

Short biography Professor Dr Daniel Duprez

Professor Dr Duprez is a Cardiologist at the University of Minnesota Health Center. He is a Professor in the Department of Medicine, Cardiovascular Division at the University of Minnesota. He is the holder of the Donald and Patricia Garofalo Chair for Preventive Cardiology. He is Director of Research at the Rasmussen Center for Cardiovascular Disease Prevention. He is also Professor of Epidemiology and Community Health at the School of Public Health of the University of Minnesota. His clinical interests include cardiovascular disease prevention (primary, secondary), arterial hypertension, lipid disorders, detection of early cardiovascular disease, biomarkers and cardiovascular disease, HIV and cardiovascular disease.